Description

Short - Traverse the solar system while answering space trivia as you daydream your way to freedom.

Long- You may or may not have gotten caught shooting a spitball at your friend in class. Either way you are now sitting in after school detention and your wandering mind is getting the best of you. To escape the unbearable boredoms of detention you must traverse the galaxy in search of a way out. Your knowledge of the solar system will guide you as you explore new worlds and meet some new unlikely friends.
